Corrs Chambers Westgarth, Perth

The interior architecture for Corrs Chambers Westgarth, Perth was focused on clean, simple lines, combined with elegant simplicity and natural materials. The design concept was to create a space that is both functional and distinctive, but deliberately woven into the space. A combination of concealed and exposed linear sources with miniature focused sources, balanced to draw just the right amount of illumination, whilst mindful of consistency in approach to enhance the repetitive complex forms and modest volume of the space.

Corrs Chambers Westgarth Perth is an example of restraint and precision, with a deep-seated integration that allow the lighting to exist as a dignified expression of the architecture.
